Report of Superintendent of Schools

To the citizens of Newport:

I hereby present my second annual report as Superintendent of Schools of the town of Newport for the fiscal year ending February 1, 1912.

High School

The High school was under the instruction of Mr. John T. Wadsworth of Gardiner, as Principal, and Miss Emily I. Mitchell of Newport as Assistant, during the spring term. At the opening of the fall term Mr. Leroy W. Ames of Bangor was elected Principal, and Miss Katherine M. Parsons of Auburn Assistant. Miss Parsons tendered her resignation at the close of the fall term and Miss Annie M. Fillmore of Charleston was elected to fill the vacancy.

The registration of the year was twenty-four (24). This is two less than the average for the preceding year. At the opening of the fall term a few of the students left the school to enter other institutions. A few others have dropped out of school work entirely.

At the opening of the fall term a new course of study was adopted which has received the approval of the State Superintendent of Public Schools, and which seems to meet the needs of the school at the present time so far as possible with the limited teaching force. This course of study carries two branches of work: The College Preparatory and the English Scientific. Each of these courses requires diligent work on the part of the students. The College Preparatory fitting the student to enter colleges accepting students from Standard High schools on the approved list for New England, and the English Scientific course fitting students with a general knowledge of the English branches, particularly those who do not intend to enter college.

During the year the laboratory has been placed in order, a table having been constructed which provides ample room for individual work on the part of the students in experimental work, and the room has been supplied with water and wired for electricity. New apparatus has been purchased for the chemical department and the students are now required to do individual work. Some physical apparatus will have to be purchased during the coming year for individual work.

Attention is again called to the fact that the school is greatly in need of reference works for use in the school room. The school is already supplied with an encyclopedia, but works in history, literature, etc., are greatly needed. It has been impossible to supply them from the appropriation for text books owing to the fact that this appropriation has been used to supply the general texts. It is hoped that the same arrangement can be made this year as was made last year and the books supplied through the Public Library.

The students have done good work throughout the school year and the general standard of the school has been materially improved for which our thanks are due the instructors who have labored diligently to make their work successful.

To make this school the success that it should be requires a united cooperative spirit on the part of all the parents who have students in the institution as well as the parents of those children in the grades who later will become students in the school.

• The school has been continued on the approved list of Standard High Schools for Maine and also on the list of the College Entrance Examining Board for New England.

Village Schools

These schools have been under the instruction of the same teachers as last year. Miss Mina S. Soper in the eighth and ninth grades, Mrs. Aroline L. Greenway in the sixth and seventh grades, Miss Clara E. Redman in the fourth and fifth grades, Mrs. Bessie R. Weymouth in the second and third grades and Miss Harriette Fenderson in the Sub-primary and first grades.

Rural Schools

The school in the Hubbard district was under the instruction of Miss Lou M. Knowlton during the spring term.

The fall and winter terms were taught by Miss Myrtie S. Goss. In the Coburn district Miss Edith R. Wingate had charge of the school throughout the year. The school in the Gilman district was taught during the spring term by Miss Geneva Richmond, the fall and winter terms were taught by Miss Mary L. Tardy. In the East Newport district the spring term was taught by Miss Ullie Eggleston, the fall term by Miss Bernice Babcock and the winter term by Miss Bessie A. D. Morrison.

Teachers

The teachers of the village schools have carried on the work in a very satisfactory manner during the past year. They have been conscientious in their efforts and have striven hard to make their work successful. There is no question in the fact that more and better work can be done by teachers who are retained in our schools from year to year. Their influence is broader over the pupils who come under their instruction, and the schools run much smoother than where there is a constant change of instructors.

In most cases the work of the rural teachers has been satisfactory. There have been a few instances of criticism by the parents of the work in the school room of some of our rural teachers. When these teachers were engaged for the schools we had every reason to believe their work would be successful. In the instances where this has happened the teachers have had special training before entering our schools. This leads us to believe, to some extent at least, that the more modern methods of instruction have not met with the approval of some of the parents. Some criticism may have been justified, but much is not, and if the parents would visit the schools while they are in session and observe the children in their work a much more cordial spirit would be built up between the parents and teachers. This would obviate many misunderstandings that are bound to arise when the schools are observed from the point of view that has nothing to do with their inside workings.

Another matter that we wish to call to the attention of many parents is the indifference many manifest toward punctual attendance of their children in the school room. The most of the tardiness and absence of pupils during the past year has been due to the parents. Many children have been kept out of school without good reason and consequently have fallen behind those pupils whose parents have been more careful about the attendance of their children. The teachers have been blamed to a certain extent for this retardation of the pupil when in fact no blame whatever can be attached to them. There have been one or two cases where parents have sustained their children in objecting to do the required work. This method if persisted in will only tend toward a harmful injury of the child in his future life. If parents would realize that these things may mean the difference between the success or failure of the child in the future I think they would be more careful.

CONVEYANCE

The same teams for the conveyance of pupils has been maintained as formerly, a team from the Rutland district, to the Coburn Corner district, one in the Gilman district, one in East Newport and one in the village.

COURSE OF STUDY

The same course of study has been maintained during the past year that was established one year ago. A few additions have been made to the work and it seems as if this course is meeting our expectations in having a basal system upon which to carry on the work. The better understanding of the work was clearly manifest in the better standing of the pupils in the examinations at the close of the spring term and particularly in the work of the class entering the High-school. This course is maintained in all our schools through out the town.

Attention is again called to the fact that we should have instruction in music and drawing in our schools. It is useless to attempt to carry on this work in a systematic manner without the services of a special instructor. Many of the pupils have talent in these subjects which should receive development while interest on the part of many others could be aroused to develop the accuracy of the ear and hand. Now that we have a good working course of study we could add these courses without material conflict and to the parents we must look for the support to maintain this work.

BOOKS

No changes have been made in the books during the past year. It has been necessary to purchase quite a large number of books to supply the schools and some supplementary work has been put in the schools. The Ward System of Phonetic Reading has been introduced into the Sub-primary school and Frye's Home Geography has been introduced into the fourth grade. It is believed these subjects will strengthen the work of the younger pupils. A large number of books have been purchased for the High school particularly in the required work in English.

SUPPLIES

The same general supplies have been purchased as formerly. Globes, maps and charts are still needed in some of our schools and should be provided during the coming year. We have not felt justified in making the expenditure during the past year owing to the amount of expenditures required for the general supplies.

BUILDINGS

During the year 1910 the present High school building was thoroughly reconstructed. The High school occupies the second floor, with a main study room, two commodious recitation rooms and a well equipped physical and chemical laboratory. The first floor is occupied by the sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades, and also has a room for the use of the teachers. The new building which was under construction at the same time was not occupied for school purposes until the spring term 1911. This building is occupied by the Sub-primary, first, second, third, fourth and fifth grades. There is also one unoccupied room on the second floor which can be utilized should any of the other rooms become overcrowded. On this floor is a teachers room and a stock room. On each floor are toilet rooms and the basements are equipped with modern, sanitary toilet equipment. The building is heated with a modern equipment of steam and hot air furnaces that insures good ventilation in the several rooms at all times. These buildings have both been fitted to meet the needs of the pupils for years to come and have been constructed with that purpose in view. The grounds about the buildings have been graded during the past year and it will be but a short time before Newport will have its school buildings occupying as beautiful grounds as any municipality in the State. Extensive repairs have been made on the building at East Newport by raising the building and constructing a stone and concrete foundation beneath. New windows and new doors have been placed in the building and also new blackboards. This building needs to be painted and new seats are needed. The building at Coburn's Corner needs to be shingled and new seats should be provided. The shed in this district needs extensive repairs.

CONCLUSION

The schools have been in session the same number of weeks as during the previous year. Thirty-three weeks in the rural schools and in grades, four, five, six and seven; thirty weeks in the Sub-primary, first, second and third grades and thirty-six weeks in the eighth and ninth grades, and the High School.

For the financial report of the School Department reference is made to the report of the Selectmen.

The general work of the schools has been conducted along much the same lines as during the previous year, with an effort ever constant toward a gradual improvement and with suggestions along lines where it seemed most effective. I wish to commend the teachers for their cooperation and for the progressive spirit they have manifested in the work. They have each sought to make the best of their opportunities and I feel that our schools have profited generally by their efforts for the improvement of conditions.

My thanks are due the citizens for their kind cooperation in carrying on the work, and I am also grateful to the Superintending School Committee for assistance and counsel rendered by them.

Respectfully submitted,

H. D. RIDLON,

Dist. Supt. of Schools,

Corinna-Newport Dist.
